Preface

This manifesto is a promise to the people of Dhaka-18. It is based on your daily realities, your struggles, and your hopes for a better future. At a time when people want honesty more than slogans, this document presents a clear and practical plan for service, justice, and accountability. Each priority reflects local needs and a strong belief that development must go together with democracy, fairness, and social harmony.

Dhaka-18 has great potential. Its people are hardworking, diverse, and full of ideas. Yet many face problems with basic services, safety, healthcare, education, and employment. This manifesto addresses these challenges through realistic and inclusive actions. The goal is simple: to improve daily life while protecting the rights and dignity of every citizen, especially those who are most vulnerable.

This manifesto is also an open call for participation. Progress is only possible when citizens are heard and leaders are held accountable. With faith in Allah (SWT), respect for democratic values, and unity among the people, this vision for Dhaka-18 looks toward a future built through shared effort, responsibility, and trust.

Commitment to Dhaka-18

Dear residents of Dhaka-18, Assalamu Alaikum. With humility and a deep sense of responsibility, I present this manifesto as a shared vision for a safer, more inclusive, and forward-looking community. My mission is to serve you with honesty, accountability, and unwavering commitment so that development, social harmony, economic opportunity, and democratic values are strengthened together. If entrusted with your support, my voice in Parliament will carry your hopes and concerns, and every step taken will aim to improve the quality of life for all citizens of Dhaka-18. Together, with unity, compassion, and determination, we can build a stronger community for present and future generations
